REPORT ON TEAM BUILDING

Team building seminar was conducted in Nehru College of Nursing by NCERC Principal Dr. Ambikadevi Amma T on 05-11-2018 at 09.00am in Multipurposehall. Team building, means developing team builders in such a way that they do problem solving, adopting new environment, listening, organizing, good team among employers. Team building skills are capabilities that help leaders form interactive, supportive, and high functioning teams. Nursing profession is a group work and have to collaborate with other multidisciplinary sectors. So students need to know regarding team building. The session was very helpful for the students.

YOGA AWARENESS

Yoga is essentially a spiritual discipline based on an extremely subtle science, As per Yogic scriptures the practice of Yoga leads to the union of individual consciousness with that of the Universal Consciousness, indicating a perfect harmony between the mind and body, Man & Nature. This thereby encourages a whole other level of confidence among the students who practice yoga. This instilling of confidence also helps in reducing situations of conflict among peers, as one gains confidence in their inner self.

Nehru college of Nursing organized a yoga training session for the students on 21st June 2018 at 8am at NCN auditorium. The trainer of the session was Acharya Sagarchand, School of Yoga, Palakkad .The session included theoretical classes & practical training sessions. The trainer demonstrated different yoga postures & all students practiced the sessions. This was a one day programme. After the sessions the students were very much trained in yoga & this session really helped to create appositive attitude about yoga among the students. It was planned to have a daily yoga practice every day in the hostel. The session officially concluded by the words of Gratitude by the college union chairman Mr. Muhammed Aslam at 5pm

FIRST AID CLINIC

First aid clinic in Chinkathoor Pooram was organized by the department of community health nursing, NCN and PKDIMS with students of Nehru college of nursing on 01.03.2019. The clinic was started at 10.30am. With the expert health workers from PKDIMS, our students were able to work skillfully in this clinic which greatly benefited to the community people. All the people were screened as per their problems and necessary first aid measures were given by the medical experts along with students. The clinic was very useful for the community and also for the students to enhance their practical skills on first aid.

The Department of Medical Surgical Nursing and Community Health Nursing of Nehru College of Nursing collaborated to organize a comprehensive program in observance of World Tuberculosis (TB) Day on 21/03/2019. The theme of the programme was, "It's time to end TB.

The program featured educational initiatives, including role-play performances by nursing students at different healthcare facilities. Nursing students from the second year conducted a role-play at the Family Health Center in Vaniyamkulam and fourth-year students organized a role-play at the Primary Health Center in Ambalapara. Role-play performances contributed to a better understanding of TB-related issues and promoted a sense of urgency in addressing the disease.

ABSTRACT

Background of the study

Home remedies are natural cures or medicines made at home from natural ingredients such as herbs, vegetables and fruits and have given more attention due to its nature and cure such as simple, no side effects, no chemicals, inexpensive and pleasure of being able to cure. In home based remedies, the idea is used to the chemicals naturally present in the herbs, spices and other fruits to tackle the offending foreign element in the body that is causing pain or infection instead of flexing the body with hundreds of milligram of strong chemicals in the form of antibiotic. Though antibiotics are essentials for chronic conditions, which is not always necessary and are best avoided especially for minor illness.

Children constitute more than% of our population. child health is the corner stone of the nation progress and the country which neglects the child, its future progress will be affected. The age group of 1-3 years of ages is a very important period of life as growth and development is rapid.

Many common illness are present in the under 10 children. it can be treated at home without needing to consult the doctor. many minor illness such as common cold, fever vomiting, diarrhea, headache, earache, sore throat etc.. can be treated at home using simple remedial measures with out consulting the physicians.

Statement of the study

A study to assess the effectiveness of structured teaching programme regarding the knowledge on home management of selected minor illness among mothers of under 10 children in a selected community on Ambalappara

Objectives

- To assess the pretest knowledge of mothers regarding the home management of selected minor illness.
- To assess the post test knowledge of mothers regarding the home management of selected minor illness.
- To determine the association between the level of knowledge of mothers regarding the home management of minor illness among selected minor illness.
- To compare the pretest and post test knowledge regarding home management of minor illness among mothers.

Method

A pre experimental one group pretest post test design was used for the study . the mothers of under 10 children at Ambalappara . after pretest a structured teaching programme was administered to the subjects and on the third day post test was conducted with the same structured knowledge questionnaire. The collected was analyzed by using descriptive and inferential statistics.

Result

The mean posttest knowledge score obtained is 29.6 was higher than the mean pretest knowledge score is 19.6. Paired t test was done to find out the difference between the mean pretest knowledge score, the calculated t value is (13.414) was found to be significant($p < 0.0001$) this shows that STP was effective in increasing the knowledge regarding the home management of minor illness.

Interpretation and Conclusion

Finding of the study shows that the knowledge score of mothers of under 10 children at Ambalappara were less before the STP. The STP facilitated them to gain more

ABSTRACT

Background of the study:

Adolescents - young people between the age of 12 and 19 years are often thought of as healthy group. It is the transition stage between childhood and adolescent. The impact of modernization and technological advancement reflects in daily life. The unhealthy eating habits and lack of exercise leads to many diseases in adolescents as polycystic ovarian syndrome. Polycystic ovarian syndrome is a common health problem which increases in adolescent girls and young women during the reproductive years. The term polycystic means many cysts and polycystic ovarian syndrome gets its name because of clusters of small, pearls size cysts in ovaries. The cysts are fluid filled bubbles that contain eggs that have not yet been released because of hormonal imbalance.

Statement of the problem

"Effectiveness of structured teaching programme regarding polycystic ovarian syndrome among adolescent girls in GVHSS Koonathara".

Objectives of the study

1. To assess the pretest knowledge of adolescent girls regarding PCOS.
2. To find the effectiveness of structured teaching programme on PCOS.
3. To find out the association between knowledge and selected variables.

Method

In this study, a pre-experimental one group pre-test post-test design was used for the study.

Pilot study was conducted, the tool and study design were found to be feasible. Data were collected using a structured knowledge questionnaire. After pre-test a structured teaching programme were given to the adolescent girls. On the 3rd day post-test was conducted with the same structured knowledge questionnaire. The data were collected and analysed using descriptive and inferential statistics.

Result

The mean post-test knowledge score obtained ($O_2=18.8$) was higher than the mean pre-test knowledge score ($O_1=10.76$). Paired t test was used to find out the significant difference between the mean pre-test and post-test knowledge score. The calculated 't' value (13.7) was found to be significant at 0.05 level. This shows that STP was effective in increasing the knowledge of adolescent girls regarding PCOS. There were no significant association between the pre-test knowledge score with the demographic variables like age, sex, religion, education, marital status and knowledge regarding PCOS.

Interpretation and Conclusion

Findings of the study showed that the knowledge score of adolescent girls in GVHSS Koonathara was very less before the STP. The STP facilitated them to gain more knowledge about organ donation which was evident from the post-test knowledge score. There for, the study concludes that the administration of structured teaching programme was an effective method of improve the knowledge of adolescent girls regarding PCOS.

RESEARCH ABSTRACT

Background of the study

Children are the future hope for mankind. Today's children will be the masters of future world if the children are healthy, the future generation will be healthy, resulting in a healthy nation. Experts in the child development and behavioral have said repeatedly that "play is the work of child". In play children continually practice the complicated stressful process of living importance of play includes physical, emotional, cognitive, intellectual, social and moral development. Through play, children are able to test their abilities, to assume and try out various roles and to learn the effect behavior has on other.

Children are growing up in a rapidly changing world characterized by dramatic shift in what all children are expected to know and be able to do. Higher and tougher standards of learning for all population of student are focusing on a narrow view of learning. Consequently, students have less time and opportunity to play than children of previous generation. Play has a crucial role in the optimal growth, learning and development of children from infancy through adolescence. Children's right to play must be defended by all adult, especially educators and parents. The time has come to advocate strongly in support of play for children.

Objectives of the study

- To assess the knowledge regarding importance of play needs among parents of under five children.
- To evaluate the effect of structured teaching programme on knowledge regarding importance of play needs among parents of under five children.
- To find the associate between knowledge regarding importance of play needs among parents of under five children with the selected demographic variables.

Method

A one group pre- test post-test pre-experimental research design was used for this study. The samples consist of mothers of under five children. The sample was collected by using convenient sampling technique. Pre-test knowledge of mothers of under five children regarding play assessed by structured questionnaire. After the pre-test a structured teaching programme administered. A post-test was conducted with same structured knowledge questionnaire. Collected data analyzed by using descriptive and inferential statistics.

Result

The result of the study showed that mothers of under five children lacked knowledge regarding play. The descriptive and inferential statistics were used for analysis. The analysis was carried out on the basis of objectives and hypothesis of the study. The mean post-test knowledge score obtained (16.1) was higher than mean pre-test knowledge score (8.8). Paired 't' test was done to find out the difference between mean pre-test knowledge score and post-test knowledge score. The calculated 't' value is (11.4) was found to be significant ($p < 0.05$).

Interpretation and conclusion

Finding of the study showed that the knowledge score of mothers of under five children at Vaniyamkulam were very less before the STP. The STP felicitated them to gain more knowledge about play, which was evident from post-test knowledge score. Hence this study implies that STP is a strategy for providing information and to improve knowledge of mothers of under five children at Vaniyamkulam.

ANTI-RAGGING AWARENESS

Ragging is an act that violates or is perceived to violate an individual student's dignity. It often takes a malignant form wherein the newcomers may be subjected to psychological or physical torture. In order to address the issue of an increase in ragging cases on campuses, the UGC has brought out the regulations on curbing the menace of ragging in Higher Educational Institutions 2009. Ragging is strictly prohibited in the college premises. Supreme Court of India has banned ragging. In order to prevent such activity on campus, several committees have been developed and brought into operation in campus. A class on anti ragging awareness was organized by SSGP of Nehru College of Nursing on 10-01-2019 at 2 pm. The resource person for the session was ADV.A.P. Unnikrishnan, lawyer and legal advisor of Nehru Group of Institutions and guest faculty in Nehru Academy of Law and Jawaharlal Business School, Ottappalam. Students decided to exhibit brotherhood with all.

COURSE CONTENT

Introduction

A person who is offered a quality education is able to serve the region, the state and the nation through resourceful educational programmes. A quality based education consequently helps in upgrading the individual's growth which in turn endorses the growth of the nation. It offers Quality Education to create a personal paradigm, devoted to master the life skills required for success.

All human beings, need to understand harmony in themselves, harmony with others and harmony with rest of the nature. There is an interconnectedness, self regulation and harmony at all levels of existence and this needs to be identified by each individual. Human beings governed mainly by their pre- conditionings and sensory experiences and are generally very hesitant to analyze them. However, once a break through is achieved, the subsequent journey is very smooth and pleasant.

Values are our guidelines for our success - our paradigm about what is acceptable. Human behavior depends on the characters defining the identity, choosing the values and establishing the beliefs. Ethics is an activity which concerns with the investigation of moral values in moral issues.

“Human value and professional ethics” enlighten the students with the fact that right understanding about oneself and rest of the existence and living in accordance with this understanding is essential for sustained human happiness and propriety.

Dear colleagues and friends

We are delighted to invite you for the RRR-CNE 2019 on the theme RAPID RESPONSE REVIVAL that refers to the emergency or immediate care you should provide when the patient is injured or ill until the expert medical care is available. The response to act appropriately can determine the difference between the life and death.

The key guiding principles and purpose behind the theme is often given in the mnemonic "3 Ps". These three points govern all the actions undertaken by the responder.

- Prevent further injury
- Preserve life
- Promote recovery

Aim of the CNE

The overall aim is to inculcate the participants with the knowledge and skill of reviving the patients with bites, Burns and OP Poisoning through theoretical and Scenario based simulations

Objectives of the CNE

At the end of the CNE the participant will be able to

- understand the importance of rapid action
- response to the Emergency situation
- revive the patients by administering appropriate action plan
- adapts to any social or natural emergencies when it occurs
- cater the knowledge to the peer group as it requires

Target Audience

- UG and PG nursing students
- Staff Nurses
- Nursing professionals
- Paramedics

PPE IN COMMUNICABLE DISEASE

Nipah outbreak was present in Kerala. Hence use of Personal Protective Equipment in clinical practice was very important in this period. An informative session on PPE in Communicable disease was presented by Dr. Gopakumaran Karta on 07.02.2019 At 10 AM in Nehru college of nursing . All the four year of study nursing students have attended the session. It was very informative and useful for the students.
