HOW TO USE SLIDE SHARE

A Slide Share presentation is one that is hosted on SlideShare.net, the largest information sharing community in the world. SlideShare.net is a hosting site for infographics and presentations.

For students who might have missed class or who require access to the slide content after class, we can use SlideShare to upload presentations from classroom lessons. For example, if we were teaching a class on quadratic equations and three students wanted to review the slides while they worked on their homework and one student was absent, we could send them a link to the presentation from that day. The presentations can also be embedded on our instructor website. Searching the website for presentations made by other users that you could utilize in class is another option.

To keep track on what their students are publishing and watching, teachers can also link to and follow their students' activities. Organizing a day for professional development? SlideShare is an excellent tool for sharing presentations with coworkers. Although SlideShare is an excellent platform for information archiving and viewing, it is unlikely to improve or modify teaching.

On August 5, 2020, the E-Developmental Program was arranged and carried out for every teacher at the Nehru College of Nursing. Following the training session, educators have a solid understanding of how to use SlideShare for classroom lectures and presentations to students.

GOOGLE APPS FOR EDUCATION

Google Apps for Fundamentals of Education are provides you with resources to help with teaching and learning, including Google Meet, Classroom, Docs, Forms, and Chat. Google Workspace: The Standard for Education The same capabilities as in Education Fundamentals, but with improved administration controls and more sophisticated security measures.

Google Classroom's ease of use and ability to foster teacher-student cooperation are two of its main advantages. With only a few clicks, teachers may establish a class and list instructional apps, like assignments.

Among the many opportunities for interactive online learning is one of the benefits of the Google apps for education. Many approaches to support both teacher development and student advancement a chance for pupils to study how they choose.

On December 04, 2020, we planned and executed a Google Apps for Education Training program for our teaching faculty at Nehru College of Nursing. Following the training program, students acquired sufficient understanding to utilize the Google app platform for their upcoming projects.
