Personal protective equipment, commonly referred to as "PPE", is equipment worn to minimize exposure to hazards that cause serious workplace injuries and illnesses. These injuries and illnesses may result from contact with chemical, radiological, physical, electrical, mechanical, or other workplace hazards. Personal protective equipment may include items such as gloves, safety glasses and shoes, earplugs or muffs, hard hats, respirators, or coveralls, vests and full body suits. Catheter associated urinary tract infection, central line associated blood stream infection, surgical site infection, ventilator associated pneumonia are the main hospital acquired infections and PPEs are very crucial in preventing these.

Navani Meditex manufactures all types of surgical Packs, Gowns, Drapes, and other Prominent Products. Since their inception in 2019, nestled in the picturesque district of Palakkad, Kerala, we have been relentlessly working towards preventing cross-contaminations, surgical site infections, and other hospital-acquired infections. The institution organized an observation visit here and planned on 16th May 2024. 89 students and 2 faculties were visited there. Mr Favas, management representative welcomed us and gave brief introduction regarding policies, rules and regulations of their company. After that Ms Aparna, quality surveyor accompanied students and faculties to their production area and explained regarding the process from reception of products to dispatching of products. They have a sterilizing unit within the company and are using ETO for this. Students and faculties got the opportunity to see the entire process of production of PPEs. They followed all precautions which we used in health care facilities to prevent entry of microorganisms and produce safe surgical materials.
